Maturity Key...

Options

The Wine Enthusiast's vintage chart provides a handy reference for evaluating the maturity and harvest quality for regions and wine styles over the past 15 years. Answers to the fundamental questions "Is it any good" and "When should I drink it" are only a few taps away.

One should remember that a vintage chart, by necessity, is a broad, general reference and should be used with care. It is intended to indicate the vintage years that have most likely facilitated the creation of well-balanced wines. It should also be noted that even an average vintage may encapsulate some excellent individual wines and vice-versa.

The numerical score and color of each vintage table cell provides two key pieces of information— The quality of the harvest (e.g. Was 1997 a better year than 1998 for Tuscan reds?) and the current maturity status of a particular wine (e.g. "Is that 1997 Napa Valley Cabernet Sauvignon ready to drink yet?")

HARVEST QUALITY RATINGS

The (averaged) quality of the harvest is rated using the following 80-100 point scale:

- 98 — 100 Superlative year
- 94 — 97 Classic year
- 90 — 93 Excellent year
- 87 — 89 Very Good year
- 83 — 86 Good year
- 80 — 82 Acceptable year
- NV Non Vintage year
- NR Not Rated

WINE MATURITY EVALUATIONS

Wines mature at different rates and the vintage chart provides a quick visual overview of the current drinking status of a wine and/or region for a given year.

The current maturity of a wine is indicated by the color of the respective table cell. A description of the maturity is also displayed when the table cell is tapped with the stylus. This facilitates maturity evaluation on handhelds that are not equipped with color screens.

ONE FINAL NOTE

The combination of wine consumption and the control of a motor vehicle is an invitation to impaired judgement, limited responsiveness and consequences that can last a lifetime.

Obeying the simple rule "DON'T DRIVE WHEN YOU HAVE BEEN DRINKING, AND DON'T RIDE WITH ANYONE WHO HAS BEEN DRINKING" greatly increases your chances of being able to enjoy this application and the world of wine for many years to come.
